

Bursagaz Confidentiality Agreement

1.All documents exhibited in the Internet website of Bursagaz are the property of Bursagaz. No material included in this website, including the code and software, can be modified, copied, re-published, reproduced, loaded on another computer, sent by post, forwarded or distributed. However, independent of the issued indicated above, the printout of the pages of the website can be taken with the aim of using for personal purposes.

2. The necessary measures in the framework of the existing possibilities have been taken for cleansing the Bursagaz website from the viruses and programs with similar purpose but the user does have the obligation to provide own virus protection system and necessary protection for the final security. The user accepts in advance in this framework that the user will be responsible for all flaws and the direct or indirect results of such flaws occurring in its own software and operation system resulting from the access in the website of Bursagaz.

3.The purpose of the information in the website of Bursagaz is to promote Bursagaz and inform the users of the website. The user will have under no conditions any right to bring forward claims based on the allegations that the "information" in the website is flawed or that the user has been damaged as a result of this information. In the case that the user has the intention to carry out an act but taking the an act by taking the information in the website as the reference, the user will acknowledge and accept in advance that the user has the obligation to obtain the final and reliable information from Bursagaz and that Bursagaz does not have any responsible resulting from the fact that the information published in the website is not up-to-date.

4. Bursagaz reserves the right to change the contents of the website any time, to modify or end any service that will be provided to the users and to delete the user information and data recorded at the website it deems fit. Although all measures have been taken to avoid any mistake in the website of Bursagaz but no guarantee will be given that there are no mistakes or no mistakes will occur at the website.

5. In the case that the official institutions bring forward an accusation against or the request for an official inquiry on the user and/or if it will be set forth that the user has carried out an electronic sabotage or assault that will prevent the operation of or alter the functions of the website, Bursagaz reserves the right to investigate the identity information of the user and to notify the legal bodies.

6. The information can drift around the internet without the necessary safety measures as a result of the structure of the Internet and the unauthorized persons could get hold of such information and use it. Bursagaz will not have any responsibility pertaining to the damage inflicted as a result of such utilization.

7. Under some circumstances information that is not genuine to your person can be collected. The type of the Internet browser you use, your operation system and the domain name of the website, with which you have had access to our website, can be disclosed.

8.Bursagaz website has the right to modify, renew or cancel any of the "utilization conditions" without prior notification. The execution of the right to modify, renew or cancel any provision will apply and be valid at the time of publishing with respect to all users.

9.This agreement will be executed in accordance with the codes of the Republic of Turkey without allowing any contradictions. In the case that any of the provisions of this agreement cannot be applied in legal terms because it is declared to be illegal, invalid or legally inapplicable for any reason, this mentioned provision will be considered to be taken out of the text of this agreement, which will in no way affect the validity or applicability of the remaining provisions.

10.The information you give us about yourself through the Bursagaz Internet website will not be shared with third persons or used for commercial purposes..